SUMMARY

As a full stack React developer, I possess expertise in Node JS, Express JS, and Redux to build robust and efficient web applications. With proficiency in HTML and expertise in CSS, I can create visually appealing and responsive user interfaces. I am also skilled in dealing with databases like MongoDB, SQL, Firebase, and others, which enables me to create complex data-driven applications.

Overall, my ability to combine technical expertise with strong critical thinking skills and excellent communication makes me an asset to any team looking to create modern and innovative web applications using React.
